			Complaints had been received from residents of the Greenses who were overlooked by the windows of the rooms of the Workhouse occupied by the mothers of illegitimate children. They had been annoyed when passing on Sundays by the improper language used by the women, who were at the windows. The Workhouse Committee were to investigate and take measures to deal with it. The tenders for supply of coffins for the next 6 months were presented and that from John Robertson was accepted. The Chairman [Alexander Robertson] and Alexander Lowrey presented their report on Vagrancy, requested by the Board on 28 March 1843. They presented Regulations for the relief of casual and mendicant paupers. These had been discussed with the Watch Committee of the Town Council and the magistrates. The Regulations: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. The Clerk to the Board of Guardians would issue tickets to the Relieving Officers, Churchwardens, Overseers and Assistant Overseers of the Poor, and, with the permission of the Watch Committee, to the Police Officers of the Borough and of parishes and townships therein, and also to any ratepayer who may apply for them.</li> </ol> The Ticket: Berwick-upon-Tweed Union  No.            day of        184    o'clock  The Bearer to go to the Master of the Workhouse:- NB This ticket to be given to none but persons who on the ground of destitution are found begging within the Borough. 			3 On presentation of the ticket, the Master of the Workhouse should ensure that enquiries are made of the bearer concerning the circumstances, route and cause of destitution and enter this into the Vagrant Admission Book along with the particulars required by the rules of the Union. 4 The Book and tickets are to be presented at every meeting of the Board of Guardians to ensure each case was investigated and the Relief charged to the proper parish. 5 The bearer of a ticket is to be admitted as “casual poor” and to be subject to those regulations. 6 Those admitted as “casual poor”, whether by ticket or not shall be discharged at 9am or within an hour thereafter agreeable to the rules of the Poor Law Commission, and after the regulations of the Workhouse have been complied with. 7 The Watch Committee should be asked to issue the following to the police officers and constables: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>I) An officer or constable to be present at 9am when the “casual poor” are discharged to inform them that if found in the district committing any act of vagrancy or mendicancy they would be brought before a magistrate as idle and disorderly persons.</li> <li>II) An officer should enter every common lodging house morning and evening each day to ensure there are no common vagrants and report to the magistrates any matters concerning the lodging house which they think advisable.</li> <li>III) Officers are to be vigilant in suppressing begging by children and to ascertain if they have been directed to beg by another and if so bring the latter before a magistrate.</li> </ul> 8 A notice to the ratepayers concerning vagrancy and these regulations to be published. Any ratepayer can apply for tickets to entitle relief in the Workhouse to people travelling a distance from home, provided they did not have a fixed residence within the Union or a reasonable distance from it and that the Relieving Officer of the district agreed. 9 A notice addressed to those likely to be eligible was to be placed in places where they might frequent. It informed them that according to the regulations they should apply to persons named below for, provided they were really destitute, a ticket for admission to the Workhouse. If they were found begging or committing an act of vagrancy they would be taken before a magistrate and liable to punishment in accordance with the law. (List of those who could issue tickets to be appended). The regulations were adopted and agreed that a copy be sent to the Watch Committee and that the Chairman and Mr. Lowrey should meet with the Mayor and Committee also, if necessary.

If she has deserted the child it should be brought up as a member of the established church. 2 and 3. What steps should be taken to find out the religious denomination of orphans and deserted children? Should the Master of the Workhouse follow the religion as stated in the Admission Book? If no entry has been made at the time of admission should he consider the child as belonging to the established church? They replied that he should ask the child on admission as to their religious denomination and enter it accordingly. If the child is too young to give an answer they should be brought up in the established church unless a Godparent objects under sec. 19 of The Poor Law Amendment Act. The Board recognised its legal obligation to ensure each child receives an education in the doctrines of the denomination to which it is considered it belong and regrets that this had not earlier been invoked. They resolved that the Workhouse Committee should find out the religious belief or denomination of the children presently in the Workhouse and report back to the next meeting of the Board.

It was agreed that the Board would not comply with his request. Alexander Robertson [Chairman] presented a lengthy and detailed report, supported by statistics, which he had written, concerning the consequences of 'Scotch Pauperism for this Border Union'. The report was prompted by the appointment of a Commission of Inquiry into the Poor Law of Scotland. The Report.  Statistics of casual poor admitted to the workhouse from 1 July 1840 to 25 April 1843.  Country: England 1530; Ireland 1501; Scotland 2564.  Men 3790; Women 940; Children 865.  Destination of adults and children on their own: England 2662; Scotland 2220.  Ratio of above to population of country of origin: English 1: 10400; Irish 1: 5450; Scotch 1: 2020.  Extent of instruction of adults admitted from 1 Oct. 1840: reading 2903; writing

		1905; arithmetic 811. These show a vast disproportion of Scotch among itinerant paupers helped by the Union. He suggests that similar statistics should be procured from Carlisle and Unions between to ascertain whether this is particular to Berwick. Those seeking help from the Union only represent part of the burden on the inhabitants. They are nearly all labourers and artisans in transit. Common vagrants or habitual mendicants beg during the day and stay in common lodging houses. To indicate the nature of casual poor relieved he lists their trades: Labourers civic and rural 1539; cotton and woollen spinners and weavers etc. 644; sailors 259; iron and brass foundry, forgemen etc. 180; smiths 156; pitmen 121; engineers and millwrights 91; shoemakers 85; cabinetmakers and joiners 78; tailors 71; Nailors 71; masons 61; flax dressers 57; brickmakers and layers 55; rope makers and twine spinners 50; bakers and millers 48; potters 45; boiler makers 49; sawyers 38; glass blowers 36; paper makers, stationers etc. 35; cork cutters 34; hatters and furriers 33; gardeners 31; painters 30; printers, typesetters and engravers 28; tinsmiths and plumbers 28; dyers 26; comb and brush making 22; slaters and plasterers 20; bleachers and clothiers 18; coopers 18; stocking weavers 16; cutlers 14; file makers 13; tanners and curriers 13; sugar bakers and confectioners 12; grooms and carters 12; saddlers 10; glass cutters 10; stone cutters 9; schoolmasters and clerks 7; pipe makers 7; tobacconists 7; coachmakers 7; shipwrights and sailmakers 7; tallow chandlers 6; basket makers 6; hair dressers 5; clock and watchmakers 4; soap boilers 4; paper stainers and japanners 4; lath renders 4; brewers 3; butchers 3; soldiers 2; sundry trades 29; total 4271 (children 865; unaccounted for, chiefly women). He then gives in support of his thesis that most casual poor relieved are in transit seeking work, figures from July 1841 to February 1843 showing that the vast majority of those over 15 are under 40 or even 30. Most vagrants or beggars are not able bodied people under 40. 15 to 20 years 289; 20 to 30 years 530; 30 to 40 years 247; 40 to 50 years 132; 50 or above 76. From observation he considers that the vagrants and mendicants within the

			area of the Union [who are not presenting themselves for relief] are of similar proportion to the casual poor above. He points out that the Union boundary is contiguous with Scotland for 15 miles. Vagrants becoming ill, adds a further burden on the Union. He gives figures for casual poor admitted because of illness from 1 January 1843. Country of origin: England 2; Ireland 7; Scotland 5. Destination: England 9; Scotland 5. Remarks: These were found on admission to the casual ward to be suffering from fever and were transferred to the infirmary. The average stay was about 1 month. He does not think that the number whose destination was England was due to Irish travelling for the harvest. They would land on the west coast of Scotland and cross over into England further west. He gives figures of movement which he suggests show little difference for the harvest months. Any difference can be explained by reluctance to travel in winter and the general state of trade in recent quarters. He then gives possible reasons for the excess of Scottish casual poor: the lack of legal provision in Scotland for able bodied who are out of work and destitute and the limited help given to the aged and infirm. Both he and officials of the Union have been told that because there is no help for the able bodied, even for a brief period, that they had no choice but to become mendicants or travel to England where they would get shelter whilst seeking work. Scottish tramps, especially those with families have told him how anxious they were to reach the Border before becoming sick. He gives an example on 13 May 1843. A man with wife and child who had stayed in the Workhouse the night before had gone to -----, seven miles north of Berwick [probably Ayton, in Scotland] and then returned to the Workhouse seeking admission. His child had been taken ill and knowing that he and his family would get no help there returned south of the Border. He gives a further recent example showing that legalised begging in Scotland by having a pass does not always ensure help: late one evening a woman, very fatigued, with an infant at breast, a child on her back and three who looked

		under seven at her side applied for food and clothing at the workhouse. Although she had a pass from Glasgow she had had to beg her way to the Tweed. Very seldom had she received help from parish officers. She had walked through-----, and Robertson asked why she had not sought help there. She had done so but was refused all help, being told at the Session Clerk's house (he was out) that there were no more passes to be relieved there. She sold an article of clothing to buy some bread for the children. Another example a few days ago: he questioned a girl; she had come from Glasgow and had walked from Dunbar that day [almost 30 miles] and was going to Newcastle. She had slept in an outhouse the night before and had not received any help from parish authorities en route. Asked why she had walked so far that day, she replied that tramps had told her she would get food and lodgings at Berwick Workhouse. Where the Union has applied to some Scottish parishes for relief, that offered has been scanty and irregular. He gives an example of negotiations with Eyemouth parish in February 1843: In response to a request for assistance on behalf of James Young and his family, a fisherman of the Greens Berwick, who was too ill to work and had a surgeon's certificate, George Edington replied on behalf of the Heritors of the parish of Eyemouth. They agreed to pay two shillings weekly provided a certificate of illness is provided every fortnight. Robertson points out that Young had a wife and six children aged 14 to 2. He gives another example from the parish of Chirnside: Mr. Atkinson, Relieving Officer, Berwick, had contacted Mr. D, parish schoolmaster, Sessions Clerk and Heritors Clerk for Chirnside parish, concerning Daly who was previously accepted as a parishioner of Chirnside and had again been admitted to Berwick Workhouse 'in a state of mental derangement'. Mr. D had written to a woman in Fisherrow asking for lodgings but had not discussed it with the Minister of Chirnside until three weeks previously, following a letter from the Willobys querying progress, but had not shown the Minister the correspondence. No meeting was called and Mr. D was advised to speak to some of the Heritors. He spoke to one and wrote to another without reply. He then heard that Daly was better but did not check this with Berwick. Following a third letter from Berwick

		Union he came into Berwick that day, but without any authority from the Heritors. When Mr. D was told that Berwick Union would refer the matter to the Poor Law Commissioners, he agreed to receive Daly that Friday and present the bill for expenses before the next meeting of Heritors. He then gives the information collected concerning the Casual Poor relieved in the Workhouse, kept in a Vagrants Admission Book. The Headings were: date; name; country – England, Ireland, Scotland; sex and children – men, women, children; age; height; with or without instruction – read, write, cypher; trade; come from; going to; by whom sent; charged to – Berwick, Tweedmouth; remarks. Once this is done, the person is admitted, given simple but sufficient food as the inmates and given lodging for the night. For those able to do so, 'some slight labour' is demanded. He is sent out the next day unless he requires medical attention, in which case he is placed in the infirmary, until he recovers. The report is then signed by Alexander Robertson, but there is appended correspondence from Eyemouth Parish, dated 11 May 1843. The Heritors and Kirk Session considered a letter from Berwick Union, concerning a blind woman, May Fraser. They make a formal application on her behalf to Berwick Parish for relief and ask for the relevant forms. In support they say her delirium is caused by the abuse which made her leave her father's house and prevents her from leaving the lodgings she has been in since 19 April at a cost of 5 shillings per week. They hope the Guardians will consider this in the emergency. Robertson comments that the girl was in the Workhouse four months ago and is well known to the Master and Mistress and that any misconduct is on her part, the delirium of her own creating and that she is not afflicted with total blindness. [It is not said, but it appears that her home is in Berwick and she has sought refuge in Eyemouth] Robertson compares the five shillings allowed for May Fraser with the two shillings allowed for James Young, his wife and six children. The Meeting agreed unanimously that a copy of the Report be sent to Edward Twistleton, Poor Law Enquiry Commissioner for Scotland.

			Hawthorn; Janet Fenton; Elizabeth Fenton; Jane White. The Board accepted the Report and asked the Workhouse Committee to put it into practice. They considered a reply from the Poor Law Commissioners concerning the Regulations for the Relief of Vagrants, agreed by the Board on 25 April 1843, and accepted them apart from Article 6. They stated that vagrants could not be lawfully detained for more than four hours from the time of breakfast, even if they had not performed their assigned tax. If a pauper refused or failed to perform a task suited to his age, strength and capacity, he should be taken before the Justices and punished as an idle and disorderly person. They instructed the Workhouse Committee to make the above alterations in the Regulations and put them into effect. They received an application from James Dryden of Tweedmouth to have his daughter, Isabella, wife of Robert Lough, who was presently insane to be sent to a lunatic asylum. They ordered that she be sent to Morningside Asylum [Edinburgh] and that the cost be met by Tweedmouth Parish, as a loan to be recovered from Isabella Lough's husband.

Carmichael had not made a direct arrangement with the lodging house keeper for Bruce and her children to sleep apart from the common lodgers. He added that he had been partly misled as to the common lodging room being open for every tramp.</li> <li>3. Carmichael was now aware that he had exceeded his power as overseer in giving the order for the Workhouse for Wright and his wife. This case was for the consideration of the Board.</li> </ol> The chairman further explained to the Board that that both officers had agreed to be more circumspect in future. The Board decided to take no further action. The Workhouse Committee presented a report concerning the circumstances of alleged sexual intercourse between two inmates. They had interviewed both, the Master being present.
--	--	---	--

			They had learnt sexual connection, had occurred some months back between in the Workhouse between the two inmates, had made some enquiry at the previous meeting and postponed full investigation till this meeting when the two involved, Henry Joy and Eleanor Hunter, were interviewed. They admitted that intercourse had taken place at least twice last winter. After supper they were able to meet in the washhouse as the door was unlocked. Joy retired by the passage which leads from the men's yard to the women's and is immediately opposite the washhouse. On both occasions the passage door was unlocked. Hunter got to her room by the common entrance to the women's wards. The passage Joy used to return from the washhouse to the men's ward is the only access the men have to the dining hall and the women have to the lodge gate, the sick wards etc. It is therefore a thoroughfare and badly situated for inspection and control. They considered there had been laxity in supervision on the part of the Master and Mistress, particularly necessary because of the structural difficulties. Despite some censure the Committee consider that the difficulties (whether caused by a desire for economy or too hasty an adoption of plans for additions) of proper classification and separation are almost insurmountable. They will look at whether inexpensive alterations are possible. Meanwhile the Master and Mistress have been instructed to keep the relevant doors secured and to restrict communication between inmates, outwith their own wards as much as possible. The incident was particularly deplorable in that both parties are of rather weak mind. They also regret that the Poor Law Commissioners did not, as requested by the Board, send the original letter signed by Anthony Percy" to the Board. If they had they might have been able to identify "Anthony Percy" and thus discover the above earlier. There follows an extract from the Visitors Book, dated 30 May 1843, It states that separation of the classes strictly enforced according to Article 9 is not possible because of the structural management of the house. They did not wish to impugn the vigilance of the Master and had to report that the incident had taken place. They will investigate further, report to the Board and have directed the Master to be more vigilant. The Board concluded that the doors should not have been left in an unguarded

[See Meeting of 18 July 1843]. Reply from the Poor Law Commissioners concerning payment by Ebenezer Black of Grindon. [see meeting of 4 July 1843] in reply to their letter of 26 July 1843. They have appointed Mr Hawley, Assistant Poor Law Commissioner to investigate on his next visit to Berwick. They considered a letter from John Anderson, Relieving Officer and Registrar, written from Scremerston, dated 8 Aug 1843. This concerned problems encountered in organising inquests in North Northumberland. On 4 August 1843 two bodies had washed up on Holy Island. Both had been passengers on the steamer, Pegasus; one a young man named Aird from Edinburgh, the other a soldier, name unknown. Rev. Watson, curate of Holy Island, wrote to the coroner, Mr. Favell, Eighton Cottage, Gateshead, Coroner for Chester Ward, of which North Durham was a part. He replied, refusing to come, stating that a recent Act of Parliament had attached North Durham to North Northumberland. He advised they should contact Mr. Russell in Alnwick, which Watson immediately did, enclosing Favell's letter. Mr. Russell, Attorney at Law, replied saying his brother who was Coroner was in London and that Favell was Coroner for North Durham and that he should be contacted. As neither coroner would attend, they had to bury the bodies without inquest. Anderson asks that they bring the matter to the attention of the Secretary of State for the Home Department and the Lord Lieutenant of Durham. A postscript added that five more bodies have been buried on Holy Island and there had been a drowning at Fenham, all without inquest. It was ordered that the Clerk report the above to the appropriate authorities. They then considered three instances of vagrants, becoming ill in Scotland, and sent to Berwick for assistance. 1 William Wilson. Reported by John Purdie, Master of the Workhouse. Wilson was admitted to the Workhouse on 29 July 1843, suffering from fever. Initially
--	--	---	--

		he was admitted to the vagrant ward and as he appeared very ill was seen by the Medical officer who considered he had a severe attack of fever. He was transferred to the fever ward. Interviewed by Purdie, Wilson reported he was a seaman. He landed at Dunbar on 25 July 1843, having been ill for about ten days. He stayed three nights at Dunbar, Dr. Turnbull giving him sixpence towards lodgings. The Provost ordered that he leave Dunbar on the third day and he was taken by cart to Cockburnspath, where he stayed one night. He was sent by cart to Ayton. He went to the schoolmaster who immediately sent him on by cart to within three miles of Berwick, from where he got a lift into Berwick. He was discharged from the Workhouse until 14 August 1843, having recovered. Andrew Henderson, Medical Officer, confirmed his visit and diagnosis. James Proudfoot, Chief Officer of Police, Berwick, reported that at the request of the Guardians he had gone to Ayton to enquire into the removal of Wilson. He interviewed Mr. Fortune, Schoolmaster and Heritor's Clerk. Fortune remembered seeing Wilson who had been sent to them by cart from Dunbar. He said he kept Wilson overnight, who said he was a seaman and that he had gained a settlement in Berwick by service and was anxious to reach there. Fortune had hired a cart from John Menning and directed the driver to take Wilson to Lamberton Toll but not through (a few hundred yards before the Border, about 5 miles from Ayton and three from Berwick). His instructions were never to send a pauper out of Scotland and that was the practice before he took office. Proudfoot remarked to Fortune that it was very uncharitable to leave a sick man to walk three miles and there would have been no harm to have sent him into Berwick. Fortune admitted Wilson seemed very ill and said there was no provision for relieving such persons and he would be very glad if some change was made. He added that he was much annoyed with them as they would sometimes lie down at his door until relieved. 2 Catharine Maloney. Reported by John Purdie. She was admitted to the Workhouse 27 July 1843 with a 16 year old child. She said she was Irish, aged 37. She had become ill with fever while in the Duns area. She got lodgings for two nights in a byre at Cheeklaw, about two miles from Duns. The servants

			there advised her to go to Berwick where she would be well taken care of. She came to Berwick, taking two days (about 13 miles). She was admitted to the vagrant ward and transferred to the fever ward on advice of the medical officer. She left on 21 August 1843, having recovered. 3 William Frankland and Mary Knox. Reported by the Clerk. Frankland, 22 years, was a native of Paisley and was accompanied by Mary Knox, a native of Berwick, though they were not married. On 21 August they lodged at an inn at Bankhouse, kept by Mr. Grant, about 17 miles north of Berwick. [now Grantshouse?] She was ill with fever and Mr. Grant sent her to Ayton in a cart. They were sent to the schoolmaster who gave them sixpence for lodgings and a shilling for food, staying overnight. Knox told him she was from Berwick and wanted to get there. Frankland said he was too ill to walk there. The next morning the schoolmaster hired a cart, but only as far as Lamberton Toll. However the carter was going into Berwick and allowed them to ride until a few hundred yards before Castlegate Toll. Frankland walked with difficulty to the house of the Relieving Officer in Church Street and was admitted to the Workhouse. Knox went to her mother's and had a stillborn child that night. She became so ill she had to be admitted to the Workhouse where she remains. Frankland left the Workhouse on 31 August 1843. Agreed that the above be sent to the Poor Law Inquiry Commission for Scotland and also to the Poor Law Commissioners who were asked to advise the Board of any action they should take either on the above or any future similar cases. Copies of the statements concerning Wilson and Frankland to be sent to Mr Fortune and he should be informed of the action taken.

This was prompted by a letter from the Poor Law Commissioners, dated 16 September 1843, in response to the Lunatic Return for the year to 15 August 1843. They suggest that the Board enquires from the Medical Officer for the Workhouse and the medical officers where the paupers stay whether there is a reasonable prospect of cure if treated in an asylum. They also point out that all such cases should be sent to an asylum initially to receive professional superintendence and that it is in the early stages that there is the best chance of cure.

			A letter from the Poor Law Commissioners, dated 31 August 1843, concerning the competency of medical practitioners with Scotch and Irish qualifications was read. It gave the opinion of the Attorney General and another counsel, requested by the Secretary of State for the Home Office. 1 Those having a Surgical diploma or degree from a Royal College or University in Scotland or Ireland are legally as competent as medical officers under the Poor Law Act as those holding a qualification of the Royal College of Surgeons in London. 2 Those having only Scotch or Irish medical qualifications are not competent to practice pharmacy in England or Wales. The Commissioners accept the above and will modify their General Order of 12 March 1842 accordingly.

		[James Atkinson]; Anderson [John Anderson]; Dods [William Dods]; were presented, and payments ordered as required for out-relief and in-maintenance. Payments were ordered for supplies and services: George Hay (30 sacks oatmeal); James Sanderson (candles); Alexander Darling (bread); Robert Sanderson (coal); Joseph Milburne (groceries); M Paulin (salt); George Oswald (barley); John Purdie, Master of the Workhouse, (milk, flour, fish, chaff, sand etc, straw for pigs, eggs); John Main (repairing clothes). Financial transactions between the parishes and the Treasurer were recorded. Alexander Robertson, Chairman of the Board, presented his report on the education of children attending the Workhouse school and children of the outdoor poor attending other schools. It was based on a visit made on one day by himself accompanied by Mr. Atkinson, Relieving Officer, which took place two or three weeks previously. He first reported on the Workhouse School. There are six classes:  Class 1: 6 children, average age 4 ½, studied the alphabet and words of 2 letters, McCulloch's 1st book. Monitor James Wilson, -- age, outdoor, 3 yrs at Workhouse School.  Class 2: 13 children, average age 5 ½, studied reading and spelling short words, McCulloch's 1st book. Monitor --- Kennedy, -- years indoor, 18 months at Workhouse School.  Class 3: 13 children, average age 7, reading – simple facts and maxims – a few, McCulloch's 2nd book. Monitor John Pringle, 12 years outdoor, 18 months at Workhouse School.  Class 4: 15 children, average age 9, reading simple narration, as trades – animals and moral tales, all writing, some in first rules of arithmetic, geography, maps, McCulloch's 3rd book. Monitor Agnes Lamb, 12 years outdoor, 3 yrs at Workhouse School.  Class 5: 19 children, average age 12, reading tales and extracts relating to natural history, elementary science, religion and selection from Old Testament

		writing and arithmetic, geography. McCulloch's 4th book, Miss Austin's selections from Old Testament. Monitor Margery Ogle, 12 years outdoor, 5 yrs at Workhouse School. Class 6: 13 children, average age 13 ½ , same as Class 5 plus reading from the Bible. Monitor George Conolly, 14 yrs outdoor, 6 years at Workhouse School. Classes 2 &amp; 3 need small slates to start writing. Classes 4 &amp; 5 need copies of the New Testament. The Master assembles all scholars morning and evening on the gallery for prayer and at set times for simultaneous instruction of an elementary character and uses a blackboard for illustrating his subjects and also the maps. The roll has at times had 100 children, the average attendance is about 90. As he had to inspect the children at other schools on the same day he could not fully assess the proficiency of pupils and discipline. He suggests this should be done soon. He then makes general comments:  He considered the first three classes should be further advanced. He advises more personal attention by the Master and better selection and training of Monitors, suggesting an hour or two per week of private teaching and training of the monitors by the Master. This would ensure his better knowledge of them and their greater respect of him. The three upper classes read and spelt very creditably. Class 6 read with expression and regard for punctuation. However few scholars could respond well to questioning of the meaning of frequent words and phrases. He thought there was too much rote learning, leading to overload of the memory relative to understanding. Classes 5 &amp; 6 are taught the Catechisms of the Church of England or Scotland according to belief. For children living in the Workhouse, apart from attendance at local Churches on Sunday and an evening Sunday service in the Workhouse, taken by the Dissenting Ministers in town in turn, religious and moral instruction devolved entirely on the Schoolmaster. He suggests members of the Workhouse Committee contribute to this. He regrets that the Master is not qualified to teach vocal music [singing], the

		value of which he extols at length. Mr. Allison, Clerk of Berwick Church, has been teaching the children to sing hymns with no payment. He suggests that he might systematically teach vocal music for a small annual sum. He suggests: an outward distinction in dress for the monitors to increase their standing, maxims, drawings, maps etc. are hung on the walls, the children be given an interval of about 15 minutes morning and afternoon. The children were on the whole clean and some very neat. Discipline was good but the master was abrupt with too frequent use of the cane. The attendance of outdoor scholars was very regular. The practice of stopping a small portion of relief if frequent absence was due to the parent, clearly helped. Children attending other schools was as follows: Corporation Schools – 4; Revd Mr Leach’s – 7; Mr Redpath’s – 12; Mr Woods – 1; Mr Hume’s – 5; Mr Boston – 3; Mrs Lauder’s – 3; Mrs Dugdale’s – 1; Mrs Forster’s – 2; School of Industry – 2; Total – 40, children of both sexes aged 5 to 14. The instruction and proficiency did not differ much from that of the Workhouse School. Any distinction observed was in favour of the Workhouse School (especially the older pupils) and Mr Redpath’s seminary. He expresses much concern that the outdoor poor who live too far for their children to attend the Workhouse School, have to pay for schooling from their relief. He considers all children under the care of the Board should receive education to prepare them for life and suggests the cost of schooling should be added to relief where the child lives too far to attend the Workhouse school. He records the presence and contribution to the education of the outdoor children of Mr Atkinson, Relieving Officer. The report was accepted and to be considered at the next meeting. Notices for marriage were read for: Thomas Short and Isabella Straughan. Funeral expenses were ordered for: Child of Berwick; Eleanor Garret.

			Fees for midwifery cases: Reply received from the Poor Law Commissioners which concurred with the opinion of the auditor that these should be charged to the respective parish and not the Establishment Account. Letter received from the Commissioners concerning a letter they had received from Ebenezer Black, Guardian and Overseer for Grindon, asking for the Board's observations. Black had complained that the parish had been required to contribute to the funds of the Union when they already had more money belonging to the parish than needed to cover the quarter's expenses. Agreed to send to the Commissioners the last quarter's accounts with that township which showed that at the end of the quarter there was a credit of 5¼d. Letter received from the Commissioners, asking for the Board's perusal of a letter received from A Davidson, Assistant Overseer for Norham township. It concerned payment to him of surveyor's charges for valuing the township under the Commissioners' order of 18 March 1840. He asked whether the valuation was satisfactory to the Guardians and ratepayers, as he had not received payment. Resolved to defer to the next meeting, the Clerk to give notice to the Guardians. Reply received from the Commissioners concerning the Treasurer's letter explaining that he had no funds to meet cheques drawn upon him by the Board. The Commissioners accepted the Board's explanation of the cause of the delay in asking the overseers for their respective contributions. They note that concerning the townships in arrears, with two exceptions the money had not been received at the date of the letter. While the Commissioners did not recommend harshness, improper delay or neglect in payment should be dealt with firmly and if necessary by proceedings under 2&amp;3 Vict. Cap 84: Sec 1. Following the remarks of the Editor of the Berwick and Kelso Warder on 28 October 1843, concerning the conduct of the Marquis of Londonderry re the magistracy of North Durham, the Chairman, in justice to the Marquis, had

The Board approved this. Mr Home, Superintendent Registrar, presented an account from the Registrar General, for Registration Books ordered by his predecessor, D Sinclair. There was uncertainty about previous part payment. Referred to Workhouse Committee. An explanation was received from Mr. Anderson. Relieving Officer of Islandshire District, concerning refusal by the Auditor of payment of relief to Thomas Weddle and wife [minutes of Meeting on 10 October 1843]. For the past four years the Weddles had been in receipt of relief from Kyloe parish. As they were resident in Newcastle they received it from Mr. Heslop, Receiving Officer of Newcastle. After the 9th week of the Ladyday Quarter 1843 relief stopped for 7 weeks, when they reapplied. As Weddle could not get work, Mr Heslop restarted it. On receipt of the account from Newcastle, Anderson paid it, charging it to outrelief. He did not think a fresh order from the Board was necessary and that it was covered by the previous one. The Board accepted this explanation.

Middleton says that he is cruelly used by the Master. He is made to work outside, despite being ill with the palsy, making him worse. Also the Master "set a madman on to attack" him and he would have been murdered if the other men had not intervened. This is because he is a member of the Church of England whilst the Master is a dissenter. He is not allowed out to attend Church and whilst dissenting ministers preach in the Workhouse every Sunday, Church of England never do. He has no opportunity to attend divine worship. He further complains that he has repeatedly asked the Guardians to allow him outdoor relief as he wished to go to visit his married daughter in Newcastle with an eight year old boy whom she wished to take. They then interviewed Middleton who made a statement. About four months before he was in the men's dayroom on a Sunday just before dinner when he was attacked by Harry Joy. Joy knocked him down and struck him several times, Middleton having asked him what he was doing in the women's room the night before. The Master came in and on hearing what had happened, blamed Middleton. Two or three weeks later he met Joy, who was no longer an inmate,
--	--	---	--

		in the street and was told by him that the Master had told him to strike Middleton. Joy is now dead. Middleton then stated that he did not recollect the Chairman telling him that he could not go out to Church because of his abuse of the privilege. He also stated that Master had done nothing to influence his religious opinions and he had not been compelled to attend the services within the Workhouse. The Master then made a statement. He remembered being called to the incident in the dayroom. He found Joy very excited; the quarrel was because Middleton had abused him and told lies about him. The Master criticised Middleton for interfering and criticising Joy, knowing that he was easily aroused and had difficulty in controlling himself. He had never told Joy to attack Middleton or said anything to him which could be so construed. Joy left the Workhouse on 17 June 1843, was readmitted on 31 August and was in bed until his death on 30 September. He said that Middleton did not break stones but was employed spinning hay ropes under a wooden shed. The Medical Officer said he was fit for this and indeed more laborious employment. The Board ordered that a copy of the statements be sent to the Commissioners. They added that in their opinion there was no truth in Middleton's allegations against the Master. Middleton was of worthless and deprived character; he was released from prison on 16 inst. being convicted of selling clothing from the Workhouse. He had been repeatedly detected in petty thefts from other inmates (one currently being investigated). He was refused permission to go out because he repeatedly carried out articles and was frequently seen in the streets during the time of the Church Service. No inmate was compelled or asked to attend the services held in the Workhouse, of which the Board were aware. Church of England clergy would be very welcome to officiate. Outdoor relief was refused, as quite apart from his indolence, Middleton was quite capable of supporting himself. His son would be placed in peril of depravity in his father's care. They also ordered that a specimen of Middleton's handwriting be sent as they think that the letter of 4 March last, signed by Anthony Percy was written by Middleton. Percy denied having written it.

		They considered the letter from the Commissioners concerning the payment of surveyor's charges for the township of Norham in 1840. The Clerk to reply that the Guardians for Norham and Norham Mains, who were present, and were substantial ratepayers were not satisfied with the valuation. Smaller holdings were not rated sufficiently high in comparison with the larger ones. They did not wish a new valuation to be made and would not oppose payment of the account. The Board's view was that this should be determined by the inhabitants of the township in vestry rather than by the Board. The Workhouse Committee reported on the matter of the account from the Registrar General to Mr Home, Superintendent Registrar for £12 2sh 10d. It seemed that part of the account, £8 12sh 10d had been received from several Registrars and Parish Officers by his predecessor, Mr Sinclair. Agreed that a copy of the account held by Sinclair be sent to the Registrar General. The Workhouse Committee recommended that, having seen samples, potatoes be purchased from William Hair and George Shanks. Agreed. They also had ordered 24 Testaments and 20 slates for the school and a bell for the upper room of the Master's House. Approved. The Churchwardens and Overseers of the Parish of Berwick applied for permission to apprentice Robert Hopkins, a poor boy resident in Berwick, to Thomas Thew, tailor of Holy Island, for seven years. The Board interviewed Hopkins and Thew, ascertaining that the former was fit and the latter, from certificates presented, was of respectable character. This was agreed and the Churchwardens and Overseers were authorised to pay Thomas Thew a premium of £5: £2 10sh when the Justices allow the indenture and £2 10sh at the expiry of the third year of the term. Letter from the Poor Law Commissioners acknowledging receipt and thanking the Board for their statement concerning the complaint against the Board by Ebenezer Black.

		Letter from the Poor Law Commissioners concerning the instruction of Dissenting Ministers instructed that children of a different religious persuasion from that of the Minister should not attend instruction and asked whether this had happened. The Board replied: that the older children having previously attended Sabbath services at the places of public worship of the denominations to which they belonged, are taken to evening services in the schoolroom, performed in rotation by the Dissenting Ministers. The clergy of the Established Church are open to take part but so far have not done so. Members of the Board are frequently present and in their opinion the discourses are free from sectarian views, the object being to illustrate in plain and simple language the leading truths of Christianity. The Board submitted the following to the Poor Law Commissioners concerning the payment by Ebenezer Black in the case of Jane Patterson and asked for advice as soon as possible. The township of Grindon is included in the Berwick Poor Law Union and since its formation, Black has represented Grindon as guardian. He farms the entire township and is the only ratepayer and is also overseer. The Board learnt that Black had been directly paying himself, rather than through the Union Officer, certain legally settled paupers in Grindon. The sums had not been entered in either the Parochial or Union Accounts. They referred to the resolution passed at the meeting on 4 July 1843 that the matter should be investigated by the Auditor. Black had paid each of the two paupers 1sh 6d per week. On investigating the circumstances, the Board ordered the Relieving Officer to pay each 2sh for the future. Before the Auditor could start his investigation, the Poor Law Commissioners wrote on 2 August stating that Mr. Hawley, Assistant Poor Law Commissioner, had been asked to investigate on his next visit. He had investigated but the Board had not been informed of the result. A third very similar case to those of W Lindrum and M Forsythe was discussed
--	--	--	--

		at the Meeting of 5 December. Black who had been asked to attend this meeting had not done so, writing instead, addressed to the Chairman. The letter was copied: It started "as you have engrossed the whole Board in your own sweet person".... He says that the letter he received from the Clerk stated that Jane Patterson said she had received money from Black as paupers upon Grindon. He says that this is false. Her son and daughter are prepared to swear on oath that neither they nor their mother had ever applied directly or indirectly to anyone connected with the Poor Law for relief but that [Robertson] had sent someone to bribe them by telling them that if they applied they would receive 1sh per week more. He says Robertson's behaviour is neither gentlemanly nor legal. There is no law to empower going round the country to fish out subjects for relief when no application was made. To promise any sum is also a breach of public duty and that an officer doing such should be displaced. He takes the whole proceeding as a personal insult and is not surprised at this illegal proceeding. He accuses Robertson of refusing to put the question when a motion was before the Board. He will not succumb to pressure. In every Union it is practice for people to be paid out of the private purse of Guardians without letting anyone know. If a stranger offered to pay all the paupers in a township and said he would notify the Relieving Officer to take them off the books, or if the paupers so requested, could the Board refuse? He asks what morality there is in taking £60 out of his pocket for no earthly purpose to the poor. The Clerk acknowledged the letter and said that the Chairman could take no further notice as the matter is before the Board. Black replied making four points: Jane Patterson had never been on the parish books of Grindon. She had never been legally removed there. She had never applied directly or indirectly to the Union for relief. He did not acknowledge her as a pauper on the parish. The Board summed up. They understood that Jane Patterson had been chargeable to Grindon under Black's predecessor, Mr. Smith, and there was no doubt that she was paid by Black solely on the ground that that she had a legal claim on his township. They had decided to appeal to the Poor Law

			Commissioners for advice and direction. By Black acting thus other parishes in the Union were having to carry the amount of establishment charges he was avoiding; paupers were placed under the power of a single and interested individual; other parishes with two or three ratepayers could decide to adopt the same plan and the Union would be virtually dissolved.

		Funeral expenses were ordered for: Ralph Edminson of Norham; Rose Cavendish of Norham; Jane Hunter of Berwick; Mary Higgins of Berwick; Arthur McNeil of Berwick; John Trotter of Tweedmouth; James Sommerville of Tweedmouth; Jane Milburne of Tweedmouth. The report of the Auditor, Matthew Patterson, was read. He had approved all the accounts. Payment of salaries was ordered for the Clerks, W &amp; E Willoby [William Willoby; Edward Willoby]; the Auditor, Matthew Patterson; the Relieving Officers, Messrs Atkinson [James Atkinson]; Anderson [John Anderson]; Dods [William Dods]; The Medical Officers, Andrew Henderson; Andrew Morison; John Paxton; Joseph Watson; the Master and Matron of the Workhouse, John and Jane Purdie. The Churchwardens and Overseers of the Parish of Tweedmouth applied for permission to apprentice William Johnson, a poor boy resident in Tweedmouth, to Henry Tait, tailor of Akeld, for seven years. The Board interviewed Johnson and Tait, ascertaining that the former was fit and the latter, from certificates presented, was of respectable character. This was agreed and the Churchwardens and Overseers were authorised to pay Henry Tait a premium of £5; £2 10sh when the Justices allow the indenture and £2 10sh at the expiry of the third year of the term. A letter from Samuel Kent, of Gateshead Fell Lunatic Asylum, in response to the Board's enquiry of 28 December 1843, was considered. Kent confirmed that there were three pauper lunatics from the Berwick Union in his establishment. He would require the order of two magistrates of his county for the removal of any of the three. On the receipt of such he would release the inmate to a person authorised by the Board. The board decided to send one of their medical officers, Andrew Henderson, rather than appoint a medical practitioner of Newcastle, to examine the inmates

		concerned and provide the information required to satisfy the magistrates to enable them to make the order. Reply received from the Poor Law Commissioners concerning payment to assist children to attend school who lived too far from the Workhouse school [see minute of 5 December 1843]: The Commissioners replied that there was no authority to allow this to be charged to the poor rates. While the Guardians had a responsibility to provide education for children under their care and control (Poor Law Amendment Act sec 15), children relieved out of the Workhouse were not covered by the Act. However desirable education might be it, such payment was not competent. Copies of two letters, concerning the payment by Ebenezer Black to Jane Patterson, were presented: The first, from William Dods, Relieving Officer, said that he had interviewed Mr Turnbull of Twisel [Twizel] Mill. Turnbull said that Jane Patterson was a pauper on Grindon township during part of the time Mr Smith occupied the farm before Black and that she must have been a pauper for the whole of Black's occupation. The second from Thomas Smith, Chillingham Barns, son of Mr Smith above, said that he had asked his father re Jane Patterson, pauper chargeable on Grindon. He could not remember her first name but regularly paid her 26sh per quarter. He then enquired of his father's steward throughout his residence at Grindon. The steward fully remembered her coming for parish relief and that her first name was Jane. Copies of both letters to be sent to the Poor Law Commissioners. It was ordered that a copy of the relevant part of the School Committee's Report presented to the Meeting on 7 November 1843 should be given to the schoolmaster and that the School Committee be asked to discuss it with him. John Purdie, Master of the Workhouse, reported that Isabella Whiteford and

			Berwick when convenient, having previously summoned Mr Black and other witnesses to appear. Reply from the Poor Law Commissioners to the extract of the Minute of 19 December 1843 concerning the instruction of Dissenting Ministers to the children in the Workhouse and the offer of the Chairman [Alexander Robertson] to provide an explanation. They are willing to offer Robertson an interview but they are unlikely to change their views as the practice is contrary to a provision of the Poor Law Act. The Clerk to send a copy of the letter to Robertson. The Master of the Workhouse presented a letter from Mr I Lainsley of Seaton Sluice, near North Shields. Three boys, previously in Berwick Workhouse, had applied to him to be apprentices at sea. He was willing to take one, Hall, on a voyage on one of his ships. If he liked the service he would offer a seven year apprenticeship from the date of joining the ship. He would be paid £55 for the seven years and if he served his full time faithfully, £5 as a present for good conduct. He requested approval of the Board and if agreed certain articles of clothing would be required. Letter to be sent agreeing to the terms and that they would pay for the clothing. Following on the decision of the last meeting, Isabella Whitford and Elizabeth Pattison appeared before the Board. They said they could not earn enough to provide themselves with breakfast and lodgings. The Master confirmed this though they had worked as hard as possible. Agreed that they should be readmitted but that the strictest discipline should be enforced. Andrew Henderson, Medical Officer, accompanied by Alexander Robertson, Chairman, had visited Gateshead Fell and Bentham Lunatic Asylums as decided at the last meeting. His opinion was that George Drummond of Berwick, George Davidson of Tweedmouth, and Edward Young of Norham

The Keeper of Gateshead Fell said that George Bogue of Berwick had two years previously exhibited a menacing attitude though he had never committed an act of violence. The Commissioners state that the sureties must be paid in full. The guardians must remember that they are not acting as private individuals and have no authority to waive the payments. The Court of Chancery is likely to hold them accountable. If guarantees and indemnity bonds are not enforced they are of no avail. The Clerk to write to the Sureties, giving the purport of the reply and asking for payment on or before 29 July 1844. Election of Auditor. The same procedure was followed as at the last meeting and the same candidates were nominated. Robert Weatherhead 6 votes: Messrs N Bell, Weatherhead, Wilson, James Laing, Christison, McLeod. George Trotter 6 votes: Messrs Pinkerton, Dunbar, Scott, Davidson, John Laing, Tait. Robert Home 9 votes: Messrs Robertson, Archbold, Carr, McGregor, Hownam, Nesbit, Dodds, Black. As again no one candidate had a clear majority and no candidate could be eliminated, no election could be made. There had been no return of a guardian made from the township of Grindon for the present or

			immediately preceding year. The Chairman replied that his opinion was that under sec. 10 of 5&amp;6 Vict. C 57 Black was not legally a member of the Board and therefore not eligible to exercise the duties or powers of a Guardian. Given the novelty of the case and considering that the matter could be appealed to the Poor Law Commissioners and that the appointment must be submitted to them for confirmation and not wishing to leave a township unrepresented, he would allow him to vote and if required refer the matter to the Commissioners. Following the notice given at the last meeting, the parish to be charged for the relief given to [Jane Biars] while in the Workhouse was considered. William Dods, Relieving Officer, reported that Jane Biars, who had a seven month old child, came on 8 May with an order from John Paxton, Medical Officer for sugar and sago for the baby. He gave her this and money for bread and on 10 May bread and oatmeal and on 14 May sugar, tea and bread. She asked for no further relief and left Norham on 15 May on the carrier's cart. He had also found and paid for five night's lodgings. She had not complained that the relief was insufficient. Mr Paxton reported he had attended the baby and saw mother and child several times and that she had not complained that the relief was insufficient It was agreed that the cost of relief in the Workhouse, once known and the cost of the funeral for the baby be repaid by Berwick to Norham as Berwick was responsible. Agreed that the examination of children attending the Workhouse School and the children of outdoor poor attending other schools would take place on the following Tuesday at the Workhouse. Meeting adjourned.

The Commissioners had received a letter from Ebenezer Black, of which an extract was enclosed. Black states that a nomination was left by his stable boy at the residence of Mr Dods on 11 March, the day on which Black returned home. The Commissioners say that it is not clear to which nomination he refers, that dated 2 March or the one
--	--	--	--	--

			dated 4 March The one dated 2 March is invalid as stated in their letter of 6 July. If it was the second it is in their opinion valid and that leaving it at the residence of the authorised officer was acceptable. The election of Auditor depends on his validity as Guardian. The Commissioners have decided this must be investigated and an Assistant Commissioner will be asked to do so, on his next visit to Berwick. They observe that if the Bill before Parliament is passed, the Auditor would only hold office for a very short time. Agreed that Dods enquire from his family whether a nomination paper was left on 11 March. If it was the Clerk should communicate this to the Commissioners. The sureties of the late Treasurer were due to pay the balance due by them the day before. Mr Weatherhead had paid £57 2s 8d. Mr Sked had written that at present he was unable to make payment. He accepted that it had to be paid and asked for their indulgence at present. Agreed that at the next meeting they consider steps to be taken and that the Clerk notify all members. Letter received from Robert Cooper of Hartley Colliery asking on behalf of George Joy, now working at the Colliery, for assistance to purchase work clothing. They did not. Therefore the Clerk had not written to the Poor Law Commissioners. The Guardians then reconsidered the letter from the Poor Law Commissioners with extract of Ebenezer Black's letter from the last meeting. They decided the matter should be further investigated by the Board. Black should be invited to the next meeting and asked to bring his stable boy to give evidence concerning the delivery of his nomination to Dod's residence. The Board asked the Clerk to write to the Poor Law Commissioners concerning the circumstance of the election on 22 June. There were 28 members present of who 27 voted, 14 for Home and 13 for Weatherhead. Therefore neither candidate received a majority of those present as is required for a valid election of a paid officer according to article 4 of the Commissioners' General Rule of 21
--	--	--	--

			April 1842. The Board had expected an opinion from the Commissioners on this as it would seem the validity of the election on 22 June could be determined in the negative on this point without reference to the validity of Black's vote. The Board then considered an Order from the Poor law Commissioners dated 20 June 1844 concerning the allowances to the witnesses who appeared before Assistant Commissioner Hawley in Ebenezer Black's case and the Commissioners' letters dated 22 June and 27 July. The Commissioners had stated that "they have no power to allow for loss of "time; such an allowance only certain professional men can claim. The Board considered this was not in conformity with the Rules for allowances at Assizes to which the Commissioners refer as compensation for travelling expenses. The scale of allowances at Northumberland Assizes is: physicians and surgeons - £2 2s per day; professional men - £1 1s; persons not professional men – 15s; constables and police officers – 15s; other witnesses – 7s 6d. The general scale of the Crown Office is, if the witnesses reside in the town in which the case is tried the entitlement is: common witnesses e.g. labourers, journeymen – from 5s to 7s 6d per day; master tradesmen – 10s to 15s; yeomen and farmers 10s 6d to 15s. If the witnesses reside a distance they are entitled to the above and travelling expenses not exceeding 1s per mile. The Board considered the payment to the witnesses in question reasonable and within the scales above. There did not appear to be a written or indeed direct verbal order from Hawley to Messrs Willoby [the Clerk to the Union] to pay the witnesses. However their clerk, who was officiating in their absence, distinctly remembers the question of payment to the witnesses was raised with Hawley as several witnesses expected immediate payment. Hawley said that that the township of Grindon would be charged with the costs of those who had not travelled more than 10 miles and the Commissioners would bear the cost of the others. In consequence Mr Willoby senior considered he was authorised to pay the witnesses. The Board considered Mr Willoby should be reimbursed for the full amount. But under sec.14 of the Poor Law Amendment Act it should be deemed as part of
--	--	--	---	--

		the incidental expenses attending the execution of the Act and be paid accordingly and not out the funds of the Union since all the witnesses travelled more than 10 miles to where the enquiry was held. Several of the paid officers had applied for their quarterly salary, due at midsummer. As their accounts for the quarter could not be audited in accordance with the General Rule of 23 February 1837, the Board considered they could not pay the salaries. They asked that this be submitted to the Commissioners and refer the inability to pay the salaries as a pressing reason for an early decision on the election of an Auditor. The estimate for bringing gas to the Workhouse and yards with a specification by Mr Rowland was presented. Referred back to the Workhouse Committee for examination and for them to ascertain the probable expense of lighting with gas and report to the next meeting. Letter from Mr Hawley, Assistant Poor Law Commissioner, concerning the procedure for setting the new averages and asking that a Committee be set up to verify the returns. The following were nominated: Chairman and Vice Chairman; Thomas Scott; Thomas Pinkerton; Alexander Christison; George Weatherhead; Dr Clarke [Henry Clarke]. Letter from Mr Barker, Clerk to the Tynemouth Union concerning Margaret Bell, widow, with her children. She had recently moved from Berwick parish to the township of Hartley in the Tynemouth Union. She had applied to Tynemouth to be allowed to return to Berwick with non resident relief. The Guardians were willing to grant this, had applied to the Poor Law Commissioners who had sanctioned this, provided Berwick parish officers had consented. Agreed. Mr Atkinson, Relieving Officer, had received a letter from Mr C Johnson, Relieving Officer of the Shields Union, concerning Margaret Fairnell and the circumstances under which he had paid her 25s. She was now resident in

			Berwick and she was now chargeable to that parish. A copy of Johnson's letter to be sent to the Commissioners with a statement of the circumstances. They then considered the steps to be taken concerning the non payment of the sureties of the late Treasurer. Since the last meeting there had been a further payment of £57 2s 8d. There was now the same amount outstanding. And they again considered the letter from Mr Sked. Agreed they would not refuse to grant further time for payment, not exceeding three months. All the sureties to be informed in writing.
Item	GBR 39/134-140	Minutes of Berwick Board of Guardians meeting held on 27 August 1844	Present at the meeting Guardians: Alexander Robertson; Alexander Smith; Thomas Pinkerton; Thomas Scott; Nathaniel Dodds; George Weatherhead; John Dunbar; John Laing; James Laing; Dr Clarke [Henry Clarke]. 		of the vote of Ebenezer Black in the election of Auditor. It states that only the Commissioners can investigate the circumstances of the election and its validity. Any enquiry by the Guardians would be of no avail. They have already asked Mr Hawley to hold an enquiry but it will be two or three weeks before he is able to do so. Until the validity of Black's election is determined his vote will not affect any proceedings in which he may take part. One Guardian did not vote in the election of Auditor, though he was present throughout. The Commissioners are advised that in these circumstances he should be considered to have voted with the majority and therefore it would appear that Home was elected. They finally observe that any appointment will probably be temporary and shortly the duty will become that of the Commissioners. Mr Black was present, having brought his servant as requested. The Board decided not to proceed with their enquiry. They also decided to ask Mr Home to audit the Union accounts for the midsummer quarter and to ask the Commissioners to confirm the appointment and if that was not in accordance with their opinion to authorise him to act as Auditor "pro hac vice". Reply from the Poor Law Commissioners concerning the payment of Union Officers' salaries without their accounts being audited. They advised that the salaries could be paid. Payment of salaries was ordered for: W &amp; E Willoby, (Clerks); J B Atkinson [James Atkinson]; John Anderson (Relieving Officers); Andrew Henderson; Andrew Morison; John Paxton; Joseph Watson (Medical Officers); John and Jane Purdie (Master &amp; Matron of the Workhouse). The Workhouse Committee reported back on the probable cost of installing gas. Installation of pipes and fittings -£30. Likely cost of one year's consumption - £10. Adding this to the interest for the cost of installation of £1 10s gave an annual cost of £11 10s. The cost of candles, oil etc for the year between Michaelmas 1843 to 1844 was £15. Installing gas would give a saving of £3

			10s. Agreed to advertise for tenders for the cost of installing gas without any obligation to accept a tender. The committee to ask the two gas companies for price of supply. Agreed to report to the Poor Law Commissioners the cases of James Straker, pauper chargeable to Kyloe parish and Margaret Clark chargeable to Berwick parish and ask for sanction to them receiving allowances without them being obliged to reside within the Union. Agreed that Luke Craggs, a pauper chargeable to Ancroft parish, who would meet the expense, and Isabella Turner, chargeable to Berwick be sent to Musselburgh Lunatic Asylum. Turner's husband should pay the overseers 1s 6d towards the cost and the remainder to be charged to the parish. Reply from Mr Sked, one of the sureties of the late Treasurer concerning the decision that they be allowed three months to pay the balance. He had discussed this with Mr Weatherhead who was agreeable but had been unable to contact Mr Sharp. Sked asked if the period could be extended to six months. Agreed that they would agree to a six month period if application was made. Letter from James B Atkinson, Registrar, informing them he wished to appoint Adam Steele Park of Berwick, writing clerk, to act as his depute in case of his absence. Agreed.

They recommend that the prescribed fee is paid but make it clear that they are not expressing an opinion on the legality nor creating a precedent. The Workhouse Committee reported on the tenders received from the two gas companies which were differently calculated. Estimating gas use at 30000 feet per annum, Berwick Gas Company charged £11 5s pa; Berwick and Tweedmouth Gas charged £11 4s. To be advertised. Reply from the Poor Law Commissioners concerning payment of fee to Andrew Henderson. They will make no objection to this being paid. Agreed that payment be made. John Anderson, Relieving Officer reported that the boy Hadden had again left his master's service and was now in the Workhouse. Agreed that Atkinson should write to Mr Wightman, Relieving Officer of Wooler, asking him to see the boy's master and see if he was willing to have him back. If he refused the Board would not object to paying the remaining part of the premium to a new master if one could be found. Letter from the Guardians of the Bradfield Union, enclosing a copy of the Berkshire Chronicle. It concerned the decision of the Poor Law Commissioners in relation to the election of the Master of the Workhouse. The letter asked for their support in "a matter so deeply affecting their privileges" and their cooperation "in the redress of such manifest injustice". Reply to be sent that the Board did not wish to interfere in the matter. The Workhouse Committee reported that Mr. Hawley, Assistant Poor Law Commissioner, on his inspection of the Workhouse noted that the schoolroom floor was very damp and likely to be prejudicial to the health of the children. He suggested that the stone flags be taken up to drain the ground underneath or the flags be replaced by a boarded floor. The Committee were asked to investigate the cost of draining and reflagging the room. The Master reported that Mr Lamb the contractor for the gas fittings had not

Lamb to be contacted to start work immediately or the Guardians would employ someone else and hold him liable for any expense above the amount of his estimate. The report of the Auditor, Robert Home, was presented. He approved the accounts with one slight exception. The balance in the Clothing Account in the ledger is greater than that in the Clothing Book (kept by the Master) by £1 3s 9 1/2d. He thinks this has probably accumulated over time from fractional losses occurred in distributing the articles under different heads and among the various paupers. The Book is now so correctly kept that this will not recur. He suggests that the two accounts are reconciled, similar to the suggestion made by his predecessor in the Provision Account.

For a considerable time he had been unwilling to take his food, been clamorous for drugs and on one occasion said that he would rather die than be confined in the Institution. He did not however evince suicidal propensities in a form to attract much attention and his abstinence from food was regarded as one of his malingering tricks. He was always very carefully watched as the attendants were apprehensive of him doing injury to others. At 3 45am on 5 October he cut his throat with a razor. He had got it from a press in the attendants' apartment; quite how is not clear but possibly the evening before when he went to the room on a pretext of looking for some clothing and then distracted the attendant, then hiding it in his bedding. He slept in an apartment with two attendants and some other patients. One of the attendants was woken by sounds like someone having an epileptic fit. On seeing what had happened he summoned Mackinnon's Assistant who slept in the Western Department. He arrived in a few minutes but Alexander was already dead, the wound being such as to cause instantaneous death. The razor was found at his bedside where it had fallen from his hand. The death was immediately reported to the Procurator Fiscal who had it investigated. There did not appear to be any carelessness on the part of the attendants. Alexander was seen to undress and his clothes were searched and he slept with others. Mackinnon had thought it better to wait until the legal investigation was over before writing. The body was decently buried after the necessary examination was made. He finishes by suggesting that as little publicity as possible is given. Medical Officers: Andrew Henderson; Andrew Morison; John Paxton. Chairman: Alexander Robertson. Financial accounts for the Union and the Relieving Officers Messrs Atkinson [James Atkinson]; Anderson [John Anderson]; Dods [William Dods] were presented, and payments ordered as required for out-relief and in-maintenance. Payments were ordered for: Supplies and services: John Purdie [Master of the Workhouse] (milk flour, brandy etc, dusters, tiles, sand etc, eggs and straw); John Main (repairing clothes). Financial transactions between the parishes and the Treasurer were recorded. Notice for marriage was read for: Robert Gray and Mary Rowland.	5 Nov. 1844

		Funeral expenses were ordered for: William Alexander of Berwick. The Clerk reported that he had written to the Overseers of Duddo township and Mr Paxton [John Paxton, Medical Officer] concerning their non attendance at the last audit. There had been no reply from the former. Paxton had replied explaining that he had been too busy with severe cases to be able to prepare his books and considered it was his first duty to attend the ill. He would endeavour to steal a few hours from the night and have them ready to send down by the carrier in the morning. Robert Home, Auditor, had written to say that he had now received and audited the books of Duddo township. He passed these but remarked that in common with other small townships they had not got their rates allowed by the magistrates and published. Mr Paxton had come with his books that morning which he had audited and passed. He had expressed surprise that there had only been one vaccination in the last quarter in so large a district. He was not satisfied with the reasons given by Paxton but acknowledged that this was not his responsibility though thought the Board may wish to enquire further. Paxton had written explaining that in addition to the case claimed he had done eight or ten vaccinations in the early part of the quarter. They had not taken, due to poor quality of the matter [vaccine] so he had not claimed for them. Only within the last ten days of the quarter did he receive new matter and he has been vaccinating in this quarter. The Board considered that Paxton had not sufficiently justified his non compliance with the Auditor's notice and also should have informed him of his difficulty at the time. In relation to the vaccination cases Paxton should ensure he obtains better quality matter. They also considered that the unsuccessful cases should have been entered in his book. Copies of the Auditor's report and Paxton's letter to be sent to the Poor Law Commissioners. Letter received from George Dick, Collector of Poor Rates for Tweedmouth. He

The Clerk to ask Dick to approach the ratepayers of the parish and seek their opinion. Letter from Mr Hawley, Assistant Poor Law Commissioner, asking for the Guardian's opinion on the probable effects of the provisions of the Settlement Bill brought before Parliament at the end of the last session. The Clerk to inform the Guardians of the rural parishes by letter and the Berwick Guardians as soon as possible of the above. The Overseers of the township of Felkington were directed to apply to the Justices for an order upon --- Purves to reimburse the township for the maintenance of his mother, Jane Purves who had been granted an allowance of 1s 6d per week.

		Embleton in Alnwick Union but was receiving relief from Berwick parish and Mr Anderson, Relieving Officer, Berwick had authorised Mr Thompson, Relieving Officer, Alnwick, to send Craggs to Berwick without an order of removal. It is clear that in doing so that Thompson was not acting in his capacity of Relieving Officer or acting under the direction of the Guardians of Alnwick Union and was acting as agent of Berwick. It was no part of his duty as Relieving Officer for Alnwick. He might therefore be entitled to compensation for his services. They also raise the question whether they or the Guardians of Alnwick Union should approve of Thompson being so employed. To be considered at next meeting. The following tenders for provisions, clothing etc. for the six months from 21 October were approved by the Board at their meeting on 22 October: Alexander Smith – beef, fore quarters and haughs 3s 7d per stone; beef, rounds and flanks 3s 9d per stone; mutton 6d per lb. To be considered at the next meeting and John Home to be required to attend. The Workhouse Committee reported that following on the complaint made at the last meeting concerning the flue of the stove in the safe of the Registrar's Office they had asked Joseph Brown to examine it. By letter he reported that the construction of the flue from the furnace to the chimney shaft was horizontal allowing a build up of soot and refuse and also was too small for the distance before joining the shaft. He suggested that a new flue be built at an angle of 30 degrees, 12 inches high and 10 wide. The furnace should be built of firebrick and covered with fire quoils and a damper put in the flue in case of too much draft. It would also throw the heat more down onto the top of the safe. Referred to the Workhouse Committee who were authorised to have the alterations done. The Workhouse Committee were asked to provide some industrial training for the children in the Workhouse and to employ such persons as they may find necessary. Report from Alexander Robertson, ex-chairman and James Atkinson of a visit they made recently to the Morningside Lunatic Asylum. They had visited it to inspect the structural arrangements and interview certain pauper lunatics paid for by parishes within the Union. Their opinion was that the Asylum was conducted with much skill and humanity under the direction of Dr McKinnon, and that the physical comfort and wants of the residents were carefully attended to and their mental diseases received due professional solicitude and judgement. From discussion with and observation of the patients they were satisfied that all needed to be there. They were pleased to report that George Wilson of Holy Island is recovering from his malady and was had learned a new trade – shoemaking while in the Asylum. He had worked as a ship carpenter.

			They had discussed with Dr McKinnon the suicide of William Alexander and received a further explanation. --	--	---	--

		Report concerning vaccination, requested at the last meeting as a result of the letter from the Poor Law Commissioners, received from Alexander Robertson. Period from 29 September 1843 to 29 September 1844 – Children vaccinated by the public vaccinator – 323.  Children vaccinated in their private practice – 30.  Children vaccinated by other medical men and chiefly done gratuitously – 451.  Total vaccinated – 804. Number of births registered exclusive of infants dying under 6 months – 732. He points out that more children were vaccinated than were born but that allowance must be made for children born prior to 29 September 1843 and the number of vagrant children. Making a deduction of 1/8, which he is assured would be ample, then 700 children born in that year were vaccinated. This should satisfy the Board both that the private medical practitioners continue to vaccinate, largely gratuitously, and that the public vaccinators have carried into operation with fidelity and success the Vaccination Extension Act. In response to their second resolution he had calculated the respective number vaccinated each year since the Act came into operation.  1841 – 674; 1842 – 363; 1843 – 284; 1844 – 345. The much greater number of vaccinations in the first year indicates that the public vaccinators made great efforts to encourage children born previously to be vaccinated. Coupled with the later figures this indicates diligence on the part of the public vaccinators and refutes the conclusion of the Commissioners' letter. In response to the third resolution of the Board, his enquiries indicate that there was a high number of vaccinations in the Board's area, prior to the Act. The present senior medical practitioner in Berwick prior to 1841 usually vaccinated upwards of 200 children, nearly all gratuitously. He considers that in 1841 there were a lower proportion of unvaccinated children compared to other parts of the country and he was surprised that so many children were found unvaccinated in 1841. He also reported that very few children born were not vaccinated and the few that were not were from the "vagrant and mendicant class hanging round the

			town of Berwick". He suggested the higher authorities should consider more stringent provisions against this class. He also pointed out that in recent years smallpox is almost unknown in this part of the country and in the year ending 29 September 1844 there were no cases in the Union's area. While not part of his remit, he suggested that in justice to medical practitioners at large and to ensure the success of the Vaccination Extension Act, that all medical practitioners should be considered public vaccinators and entitled to a proper fee out of the parochial rate or a public fund. Resolved that his report be adopted and forwarded to the Commissioners. The Clerk was ordered to take direction from the Poor Law Commissioners whether the parish of Tweedmouth or Ancroft should pay the fee of £3 due to Andrew Morison for attending Joseph Townsley for a fractured thigh. James Elliott, tailor of Horncliff [Horncliffe] to whom George Wilkie was bound as apprentice by indenture in October 1843, appeared to request that he be released from the bond. As a result of a disease of the eyes the boy was quite unable to follow employment as a tailor and he was unable to maintain him. The Board were unsure that they had the power to do so and referred it to the Poor Law Commissioners for an opinion. Agreed to enact the Poor Law Commissioners' Order concerning non resident and non settled poor as regards Tynemouth and Gravesend Unions. A reply had been received from Newcastle Union declining to adopt the order. The Meeting was adjourned to 1 April at 10 30am for the purpose of examining the applications for the post of Relieving Officer for the Northamshire district.

They had directed James Brown to prepare a specification of work required. They also reported that the interior needed whitewashed and coloured. Ordered the Workhouse Committee to advertise for tenders both for the whitewashing and colouring of the interior and repairing the east front and north gable, according to Brown's specification. Ordered that travelling expenses be reimbursed to Mr Atkinson, Relieving Officer of Berwick, for his visit to Holy Island to investigate the conduct of Robert Hopkins, apprentice bound by Berwick Parish to Thomas Thew.

			Letter received from Alnwick Union stating that they would no longer pay relief to non resident and non settled poor, under the Commissioners Order of 21 December 1844, after 28 May. Received from the Clerk of Peace for the County of Northumberland a request for the precept from the various parishes totalling £138 19s 4d by 20th June. This was towards the general county rate at ½ d in the pound as required to be collected by the Guardians (Act 7 &amp; 8 Vict c33). Reply received from the Poor Law Commissioners to the Guardians' letter (meeting on 25th March) concerning the application of James Elliott to cease maintaining the apprentice, George Wilkie. Their opinion was that there would be no difficulty in ending the indenture with the consent of the Guardians, Overseers, master and the Justice as required by 56 Geo. 3 c139 s9. If the Guardians were to give relief to the apprentice it would not in law be relief to the master. Ordered that the necessary steps be taken to end the indenture. The Master of the Workhouse was empowered to purchase three cocoa fibre mattresses for the Workhouse. The Board had learnt that John Sanderson, a boy who was an inmate of the Workhouse, had ulcerated hands. He told the meeting that these had been caused by punishment inflicted by the schoolmaster. The Medical Officer was asked to examine the boy and report to the Workhouse Committee for them to investigate and report to the next meeting.

The medical relief given to Townley ought to be chargeable to Tweedmouth as where there is no fraud in the removal of the pauper, the parish where the accident happens in cases of this kind is not necessarily liable for the pauper's relief and that the law raises an obligation against the parish where the pauper lies sick to provide necessities.

		The fee to be paid to Dr Morison and debited to Tweedmouth. Letter received from Belford Union stating that they would no longer pay relief to non resident and non settled poor, under the Commissioners Order of 21 December 1844, after the end of the current quarter. Reply received from the Poor Law Commissioners to their letter of 6th May concerning the appointment of District Auditors. They said that they were bound by the legislation (7/8 Vict c101) to carry out what was enacted. They have no power to continue an auditor for a single Union and they cannot exempt the Berwick Union from the Act. Resolved that they expressed their regret at the reply. They could see nothing in the Act making it compulsory for the Commissioners to form districts. They unanimously and urgently appealed for the Commissioners to reconsider. The parishioners of Tweedmouth had agreed to the Board advancing a sum not exceeding £25 to Robert Wilks for the family to emigrate to America. Mr Atkinson, Relieving Officer, to arrange for them to go to Glasgow and secure a passage for them. The Workhouse Committee presented their report, as directed by the last meeting, into the alleged improper punishment of John Sanderson by the Schoolmaster. This included statements from those involved. John Sanderson stated that he was an inmate of the workhouse and aged about 8 years. About two weeks before the Schoolmaster beat him with a cane upon the backs of his hands, holding him by the wrists. The sores on his hands were caused by these blows. He had beaten him before in this way and had also done so to other boys. He never had sore hands before this. John Henderson, an inmate aged 13, said that he remembered Mrs Joy, the nurse, asking him to look at John Sanderson's hands. He did so and they were very sore. He asked the cause and Sanderson told him that the Master had licked him with a cane, causing them to be sore. He did not see the Master beat

		him on the back of his hands on this occasion, but had seen him do so, holding him by the wrists. Mrs Joy said she was an inmate and had charge of the boys. John Sanderson was under her charge. A fortnight before he had complained of sore hands; she examined them and found three marks of blows on the backs of the fingers of one hand and two marks on the other. He told her the blows were given by the Schoolmaster and the sores were caused by the blows. Once before she had noticed blows on Sanderson's hands but had not enquired the cause. She had since heard that they were caused by the Schoolmaster striking him. His hands were never sore before the Schoolmaster had beaten them. Andrew Henderson, Medical Officer, stated that he was asked to examine Sanderson on 16th inst. His fingers were so swollen that he could not state the cause. He ordered poultices to be applied and when he examined him again he found distinct marks on the backs of the fingers of each hand as if caused by a wand or a cane. He was decidedly of the opinion that the injuries were caused by blows inflicted by a wand or cane. The boy was of a highly scrofulous disposition and the blows were more likely to result in such sores than in most. Mr Logan, the Schoolmaster, denied that he ever intentionally struck John Sanderson in the manner indicated by him and John Henderson but that he might by accident have hit him on the backs of his hands. He positively denied correcting the boys by holding them by the wrists and then beating them on the backs of the hands. The Board then requested Logan to attend and asked him whether he wished to add anything to his statement. He repeated his denial and asked that other children be examined on the matter to which the Board agreed. John Edgar, an inmate aged 12, said that he had seen the master flog the boys. He had seen him hold them by the wrists and lick them on the fronts of their hands but never the backs. He had been punished himself but never except upon his back. William Bennett, aged 11, said that he had seen the Master take hold of J Sanderson by the wrists and lick him on the backs of the hands with the cane. He was not in the class at the time but his attention was drawn by his roar and

			looked that way. The Schoolmaster had licked him and Joseph Atkinson in the same way. When Logan had licked him he had turned round his hand and therefore he hit him on the backs of his hands. He hit him wherever he could. With him he had used the tawse. Joseph Atkinson, an inmate aged 12, said that he had been licked by Logan but never on the backs of his hands. Once he took him by the wrists and licked him on the front of his hands. He had seen Logan lick Ann McMann on the back of one of her hands with the tawse, taking hold of her wrists. He once saw Logan lick John Emery in the same way with the cane. He was in the sick ward when he heard that Sanderson was licked. Resolved that the foregoing statement be taken into consideration at the next meeting.

[ref. meeting 6 May]. They found her very anxious to be removed from there. Dr Macintosh surgeon of the Asylum, who, they understand, is in partnership with Dr Smith, said that she was then in her best state. At times she was very rude and in his opinion she would not recover but remain a lunatic for life. Paxton and Carmichael's opinion was that she was still of unsound mind but that she might recover if removed from any cause of excitement. From her own account she is not wholly free from this, but whether real or imaginary they could not tell. After consideration they applied to the Magistrates for her removal to another asylum. They were told that she was brought before them by the police and on examination by a surgeon proved to be insane. Their only course was to commit her to Dr Smith's Asylum as it was the only one in their jurisdiction. She could only legally be removed if the surgeon of the institution stated on oath that she should be removed. As they knew Dr McIntosh [sic] could not do so, they could do nothing further. They wished to state their strong opinion that, if possible, she should be removed to another asylum. To be entered in the minutes and expenses paid, debited to Cornhill parish. The sums collected from the various parishes for the county rate to be forwarded to the Treasurer for the County of Northumberland. The Board considered the statements relating to the punishment inflicted by Mr

		Logan, schoolmaster to John Sanderson. The resolution of the meeting was that the statements were not sufficient to indicate that punishment by beating the children on the back of the hand was habitually used, but that on the occasion in question it was and that there were other occasions he had been hasty and intemperate in inflicting punishment. They expressed in the strongest terms their disapprobation of such conduct. Taking into account the above, his want of attention in the discharge of several of his duties and his general deportment, they were convinced that Logan ought not to be entrusted with the post of Schoolmaster. They submit the case to the Poor Law Commissioners with an urgent request that they call upon Logan to resign and if he declines they organise his dismissal. All the statements and the resolution to be sent to the Commissioners and also an extract from Mr Robertson's report of his examination of the school [previous Chairman] to the Board meeting on 7 November 1843. Resolved that at the next meeting they elect a new Registrar of Births and Deaths for Northhamshire in place of Mr Dods who had resigned. Andrew Henderson, Medical Officer for Berwick, presented his report on his visit with James Atkinson, Relieving Officer, to the Musselburgh Lunatic Asylum. They visited the Lillybank private Lunatic Asylum on 26 May. Arriving at noon, they were shown into a small room where they were left a considerable time. They were then shown round by Mr &amp; Mrs Hislop. The rooms were small and poorly ventilated. They did not allow any classification of the 19 inmates. They shared a common yard for exercise, with no attempt to separate the "insane and fatuous", men and women. As far as they could judge there was no attempt to treat the inmates. The report book did not contain a detailed account of any of the cases. The surgeon only visited twice a week and apparently only attended to physical needs. In their opinion, the opportunity of treating the mental illness in the early stages when likely to be successful was lost.
--	--	--	--

			They saw brutal treatment of the more violent which made them shudder. Therefore they visited Morningside Asylum to see if they could accommodate their patients. They were full as they were obliged to take paupers from the parishes which subscribed to them. On their suggestion, they then visited the Royal Lunatic Asylum in Glasgow. They were received with courtesy and shown all round it by the Medical Officer. It was an immense establishment, clean, comfortable and orderly. They were willing to take their patients currently at Lillybank. The cost was 6d per week more, but they considered this well worth it, as apart from grounds of humanity, there was a far greater possibility of improvement. With their treatment, cure was possible for 70% whereas in private asylums average cures rarely reached 10 or 12%. The report was approved and John Anderson, Relieving Officer, was to go to Musselburgh and arrange for transfer of all, or those who were able to be removed, to Glasgow Royal Lunatic Asylum. Henderson and Atkinson's expenses in relation to the above were approved, to be debited to the parishes of Berwick, Tweedmouth and Ancroft. The cost of the passage of Robert Wilks, wife and family to St John's, New Brunswick was paid to Messrs. Dryden Lamb &amp; Co (£10 10s). Debited to Tweedmouth parish.

Adams recommended they approach Mr Heslop, Master of the School to recruit a replacement. The Committee strongly recommended this, pointing out it that it was likely to be more successful than advertising.

		The board was informed that John Purdie, Master of the Workhouse, was unable to perform any of his duties because of continuing and increased indisposition. Agreed that John Moor, Porter, assist J B Atkinson in keeping the books and generally in the management of the Workhouse. Letter from the Poor Law Commissioners approving the appointment of John Thomson as treasurer of the Union. The Meeting considered the letter from the Poor Law Commissioners, deferred from the meeting of 15 July asking that from 30 Sept. they hold their ordinary meeting once in every week. They replied that, whilst they were anxious to carry out the wishes of the Commissioners, with regret, on this occasion they asked the Commissioners to reconsider the change. The first reason given by the Commissioners was that in those Unions where meetings were held fortnightly, that in some instances applications for relief were not investigated as carefully and that the affairs of the Union, owing to accumulation so satisfactorily attended to. Matters dealt with could be more numerous or less recent in recollection. The Guardians replied that these points were speculative and not justified by any proceedings of the Union. Applications for relief have always been completely investigated and accumulation of business has never prevented them from dealing fully and attentively with it. If such an accumulation did occur they considered that it could safely be left to their discretion to take necessary measures. They pointed out that in reality a meeting is held each week as the Workhouse Committee is held on alternate weeks to the Board. These meetings, generally of two hours, as well as inspecting the Workhouse usually considered and reported on many issues referred to them thus lightening the workload of the Board. The Guardians are satisfied that the work of the Union is fully attended to and that they do not require more frequent meetings. The Guardians considered the other objections of the Commissioners
--	--	--	--

		embraced several matters relating to the integrity, zeal, activity and discretion of the Relieving Officers. The observation of the Commissioners concerning the amount of money entrusted to these officers only partly applies to the Union. Mr Atkinson, Relieving Officer for Berwick, never has in his possession more money than if the meetings were held weekly. He is issued with two cheques; one he cashes the first week, the second on the second week of the fortnight. The payments to the country officers are very small, averaging £35 to the one and £30 to the other each meeting. The security they provide to the Board more than covers these amounts. In the Guardians' opinion the discretion devolved to those officers is not made greater by the meetings being fortnightly and are satisfied from experience that it can safely be vested in them. Discretion in giving relief can only be prolonged for one week. And the Guardians cannot see how the meetings being held fortnightly can ever operate in such a way as a refusal of relief. Finally the Guardians say that the Commissioners are wrong in saying that the Union is not chiefly of an agricultural character. It contains an area of 49165 stat. acres and is almost entirely in tillage. There is one town of any consequence, Berwick upon Tweed, and several villages. With the exception of Tweedmouth, the villages are completely inhabited by agricultural labourers. There are 30 Guardians, 21 of whom are returned by the country parishes and all are farmers; the remaining 9 are returned by the parish of Berwick. As many large occupiers are tenants of the land forming that parish [i.e. Berwick] containing 5120 acres (all in tillage) generally a third of guardians are gentlemen resident in the country and engaged in agriculture. Except the town of Berwick the district forming the Union is entirely agricultural and the majority of guardians are agriculturalists. To attend meetings country guardians must devote the greater part and in some cases the whole day once a fortnight. The town guardians give the greater part of the day (and the most important part) once in every week [presumably this includes attendance at the Workhouse Committee]. They consider this is a sufficient sacrifice of time and that they should not be called upon to hold more frequent meetings.

		Report from the Auditor, Robert Home, who passed the accounts of the Officers and Overseers with the following exceptions: he had found no direct authority for the expenses incurred by the two Medical Officers when they visited the lunatic asylums at Newcastle and Musselburgh accompanied by in one case the Relieving Officers of Berwick and Tweedmouth and in the other by the Overseer of Cornhill. In the meantime he had allowed the expenses but was consulting the Poor Law Commissioners. Letter received from the Auditor, Robert Home, concerning the payment of £5 14s debited by Mr Dods, late Receiving Officer of Norhamshire to Grindon as payment for a pauper while under unexecuted order of removal. The money was actually paid by Ebenezer Black, Overseer of Grindon, whom Dods had not yet reimbursed. Home suggests that this sum be deducted from the balance of salary due to Dods to ensure Black did not lose out. The above suggestion was agreed. Payment of salaries was ordered for: Clerks, W &amp; E Willoby [William Willoby and Edward Willoby]; Auditor Robert Home; Relieving Officers, Messrs. Atkinson, Anderson, Forster and Dods (late); Medical Officers, Andrew Henderson, Andrew Morison, John Paxton and Joseph Watson; Master and Matron of the Workhouse, John and Jane Purdie. The Workhouse Committee were authorised to arrange for the papering and painting of the Board Room provided it did not exceed £5 and also to paper the rooms of the Schoolmaster. Agreed that John Mazzonie be appointed interim Schoolmaster of the Workhouse until a permanent master is appointed at a salary of £1 a week. Funeral expenses were ordered for: Ann Ross of Berwick; Robert Hindmarsh of Berwick; Henry Ivy of Kyloe.

In anticipation of the need to replace him and to save time, they had considered the actions to be taken by the Board and therefore had given members prior notice. Firstly, they considered that Mrs. Purdie should continue as Matron being very satisfied with her performance of her duties. They had confirmed that she wished to retain the post and would be satisfied with the Board’s decision on her salary. Secondly they recommended that J B Atkinson be considered for the post of Master or Superintendant [sic] Master as he had efficiently managed the

They had considered the difficulty that Atkinson could not be resident and considered this could be overcome by promoting the Porter, John Moor, to resident and Deputy Master. Again they considered that he had performed very well the extra duties he had undertaken during Mr Purdie's protracted illness. They had discussed this with Atkinson and Moor who were both agreeable. Atkinson said that on appointment as Master he would resign as Collector of Poor Rates for Berwick Parish. They therefore recommended that the Poor Law Commissioners be asked to sanction the appointments of: Mr Atkinson to be Superintendent Master - salary £35 pa. without rations and not to be resident in the House; John Moor to be Deputy Master, resident in the House – salary £15 pa. Mrs Purdie to be Matron – salary £15 pa. Mrs Purdie and John Moor to have rations equal to those of Master and Matron. The Board decided that the Workhouse Committee had given adequate notice and that they could consider the report that day. Mr Christison, seconded by Mr Pinkerton, moved that the report be approved with the following Amendment - The salaries proposed should be: Mr Atkinson £30; John Moor £15; Mrs Purdie £25. There were no other amendments and it was carried. The report and resolution were to be sent to the Poor Law Commissioners to allow time for a reply for the meeting on 23 September. The Auditor presented his letter to the Poor Law Commissioners concerning the accounts for visiting the Lunatic Asylums and their reply. As the Commissioners had not given an explicit direction he is now happy to pass the Accounts, but asks the Board to take notice of their observations. Home's letter outlined the details of the two visits, queried whether the statutes and orders fully covered the circumstances and also queried the amount of 3 Guineas per day claimed by the Medical Officers for loss of time. He also suggested it might have been cheaper to have asked a physician in the neighbourhood of each Asylum to undertake the visit. The Commissioners' reply said that the Guardians are empowered under 5 &amp; 6 Vic c 57 s 6 to arrange such visits by a Medical Officer. They did not consider it was necessary in the circumstances for the Medical Officer to be accompanied by an Overseer or Relieving Officer. They also consider the sum paid to the Medical Officers for loss of time was unusually high. As Home was now taking leave of his post [the Poor Law Commissioners having introduced a system of District Auditors] he expressed his gratitude to the Board. The Board authorised the Workhouse Committee to have the gables of the hospital and the boys sleeping and dayrooms roughcast. [NOTE: There are 5 unnumbered pages in this section, between pages 279 and 280.]

They were adamant that the Master must be resident and also objected because Atkinson was one of the Relieving Officers. They agreed to the continuation of Mrs Purdie as Matron. They requested that the Board proceed to appoint a fit person as Master, who should be required to live in, without delay. After consideration the Guardians replied asking the Commissioners to urgently reconsider as they are convinced of the superiority of the plan. They considered it would work to the great advantage of the Union. They were not motivated by any personal favour to those proposed, only by their merit and fitness for the posts. They did not want to run the risk of appointing an inefficient person. They pointed out that Atkinson, prior to the formation of the Union, then being Assistant Overseer of Berwick, had for several years had superintendence of the House. Sir John Walsham, the Assistant Commissioner at the start of the Union, declared it was the best managed House he had seen and quoted it as a pattern for others. It was acknowledged by all that this was due to Atkinson. When later the then Master was found to be incompetent it was understood that Walsham would have approved an arrangement such as now proposed. They finally pointed out that Atkinson had held the fort during Mr Purdie's long illness and that when Mr Hawley had made an unannounced visit to the Workhouse on 9 September he declared his entire satisfaction. Letter received from the Poor Law Commissioners, dated 11 September, stating that Mr Hawley, Assistant Commissioner, had reported that the Union had appointed local committees of Guardians for the purpose of assisting the

		general Board. In these committees the local guardians met with the Relieving Officers of the district. After the cases of any paupers seeking relief had been heard, the Relieving Officers had orders to act on the suggestions of the committees until the next Meeting of the Board when a report of the cases is made and the acts of the committee are confirmed or sanctioned. The Commissioners state that these proceedings are unauthorised by law and that relief given, except in cases of emergency, is probably illegal and subject to be disallowed by the Auditor. They pointed out that the Guardians had no authority except as a Board and at a meeting of the Board. The Relieving Officers are only empowered to give relief on their own responsibility in cases of "sudden and urgent necessity" and then only food and clothing, not money. The practice was a strong argument for weekly meetings of the Board and a tacit admission that fortnightly meetings were insufficient [see letter from Commissioners Meeting 15 July and reply from the Board on 12 August]. If the Guardians continue with fortnightly meetings and consider local committees are necessary, the Commissioners will consider any application for the appointment of such committees in a legal form under the provisions of 5 &amp; 6 Vict c 57. They enclosed a copy of an order which has been used in several cases. The Clerk was ordered to reply that no such practice as described has now or ever existed in the Union. The only Committees whose meetings are as stated are the Workhouse and Finance Committees. Unless there are matters referred to them by the Board, they visit the Workhouse, examine the stock of provisions and clothing and the tradesmen's' bills. Neither Relieving Officers nor any paupers attend the Meetings. The Board do not foresee any need for local committees, the business of the Union not requiring meetings more than once a fortnight. Letter received from the Poor Law Commissioners confirming the appointment of Miss Margaret Atkinson as schoolmistress at a salary of £15 pa and rations. Letter received from W H T Hawley, Assistant Poor Law Commissioner, giving a list of the candidates for the post of Auditor for the Northumberland District and

Agreed that she should be admitted to the Workhouse and that Mr Carmichael should go to Newcastle to convey her back. The Clerk reported that he had made several attempts to get payment of the balance due from the sureties of the late Treasurer. On the last occasion Mr Weatherhead replied on behalf of himself and Mr Sharp to ask whether the Guardians would relieve them of the debt and look to Mr Sked to pay the remainder as they considered they had already paid their share. A letter had been received from Mr Sked. He expressed his concern that there was any cause for the letters he had received. As he had explained previously that because of circumstances over which he had no control and a combination of unexpected events he was without a choice or alternative in the matter and therefore left the case to the consideration and clemency of the Guardians. The Clerk was ordered to reply to Weatherhead to say that the Guardians could not accede and required the balance to be paid forthwith. The contracts for provisions and clothing were to expire on 20 October and the Workhouse Committee was ordered to advertise for tenders to be presented at the next meeting. Letter received from Edwin Chadwick on behalf of the Poor Law Commissioners concerning local committees. He apologised for the Commissioners' letter stating that Berwick had such committees and accepting that they did not. The mistake had arisen as Mr Hawley, Assistant Commissioner, had wrongly included the Berwick Union in a list of Unions which had local committees. The subject of weekly meetings will be left in abeyance meantime and for the present the Board can continue with fortnightly meetings.

Approved. Ebenezer Black intimated that the motion of which he had given notice at the last meeting be postponed to 2 December. Agreed. Ordered that the Clerk propose to the Poor Law Commissioners re the Workhouse appointments that John Moor be appointed as Master and J B Atkinson as Superintendent and to ascertain whether they would sanction this. They were to point out that Mr Usher, District Auditor, had been entirely satisfied with the Workhouse books, which had been kept by Moor from the 7th week of the last quarter, when he audited them. As far as he could judge, Usher considered Moor to be perfectly qualified to fulfil the duties of Master. Black agreed to defer the matter to the next meeting. The ledger showed a balance of £25 14s 0 ¼d at the end of every quarter. This was an account for butcher meat provided to the Workhouse by the late William Lough of Berwick. It had been impossible to pay this as no administration had been taken out to his effects. 			Letter received from W &amp; E Willoby, Clerks to the Board concerning their salary. They had long thought that this was inadequate for the duties involved and asked the Board to give careful consideration. They were aware that most of the work involved was not apparent to the Guardians as most of the business occurred outwith the meetings. In the week the Board met both they and a clerk spent most of the day before, the day of the meeting and the day after on Board work. At the end of each quarter, making and balancing the books, preparing the Quarterly Abstract and attendance on the Auditor generally take 7 or 8 days. In addition there is attendance at the Finance and Workhouse Committees between each Board meeting when one of the two must set aside the time to attend. There are also considerable demands on their time in dealing with the requirements of the Poor Law Commissioners, and in dealing with all the correspondence. Generally not a day passes without some demand on their time. They asked therefore that the Board consider an increase in their remuneration. Agreed to consider this at the next meeting and that special notice be given to each Guardian.
